Wendy Claire Garvie

March 10, 1937 – August 14, 2022

Wendy became involved in the Port Wakefield community when she first came to Port Wakefield in the 1980's. She was very community minded and quite an artist – always with a positive attitude.

A brief summary of Wendy's achievements is listed, in no particular order.

One of the initial instigators of establishing the Courthouse Museum.

She fought to have the Proof Range gun retained at the highway entrance to the P&EE.

She instigated the retention and signage of the pepper tree at the Soldiers Memorial Hall car park.

Wendy also worked with the Port Wakefield Primary School students, completing the Jack Brabham sign board, and arranged through the PW CMC to establish Brabham Park, opposite the Rising Sun Hotel (not completed). Also, with the Port Wakefield Primary students, she created and painted murals.

Wendy (with Elizabeth) gained licence from SA Power Networks to paint stobie poles in Port Wakefield. She also worked with others to establish a park next to the Catholic Church with a tiled wall (the Port Wakefield Commemorative Community Wall 2002) with families in the community contributing with their own tiles.

The book "Welcome to Port Wakefield, An Historic Town in a Modern World. Landmarks, Parks, Places of Interest, Business and Anecdotes & the Pioneers Our Street Names Celebrate" she wrote as an investigated history of Port Wakefield. This can still be purchased at the Newsletter Office in the Institute Building on Burra Street, and at Balaklava Library.

Amongst countless other things, Wendy was also a member of the Port Wakefield Community Management Committee (1980's), the Port Wakefield Community Newsletter until her passing, and the recipient of the Port Wakefield Citizen of the Year 2004.

Her most recent pursuit was negotiating pedestrian access to the new Liberty Roadhouse when the original plan for an access road was rejected.

As current and post volunteers at the PW Newsletter we will greatly miss her laughter, assistance, presence, and joy she brought us all. To all of her family, we offer our sincerest condolences.

Her service will be held at Balaklava Funeral Chapel, 16 Scotland Street, Balaklava, on Monday, August 29th at 1.00pm

Port Wakefield CFS News

It's been a big fortnight of training for the Port Wakefield CFS. On August 15, the brigade spent the evening honing their road-rescue skills, using the jaws of life to slice up some wrecks donated by Port Wakefield Wreckers.

Last weekend was dedicated to defensive firefighting training. Among other skills, the brigade practised containing the kind of grass fires that can be ignited by car crashes...

And draughting, which is drawing water directly from a handy local source like a dam or swimming pool to fight a fire.

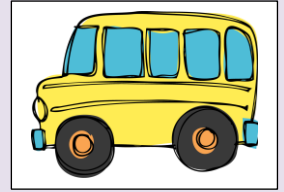

Interested in joining in? The CFS is always looking for new volunteers. Drop by the station at 6pm on any Monday night to find out how you can get involved.

LET'S GLOW!

How To Clean A Cutting Board – Why Rinsing Is Not Enough...

As anyone who has ever come down with a bad case of food poisoning will tell you, there's something to be said for colour coding your chopping boards and really deep cleaning your kitchen. I think we have all heard that designating one colour of cutting board for raw meat and another for fresh produce will help keep you from cross-contaminating your food, and disinfecting your cutlery, counter tops and kitchen sink will help keep food-borne illnesses at bay.

But despite knowing how important this is, I still can't bring myself to do it all the time. I'm more of a chop, rinse and hope for the best kind of chef (eww, I know). But I have now come to realize the importance of really sanitising my kitchen quickly and naturally.

Modern cleaning methods aren't perfect, and even after sanitising your kitchen there are still germs left behind, especially on surfaces made of plastic, wood, and even stainless steel. So, no, just wiping down your cutting board isn't enough!

1. Clean and Disinfect

Rinse your board to get rid of any leftover food residue and use a cloth soaked with a little bit of vinegar to remove any stuck-on food particles. Pour or spray 3% hydrogen peroxide all over your cutting board and distribute it as best you can with a clean rag. Let it sit for a few minutes to kill the germs, then rinse.

2. Deodorize and Remove Stains

Sprinkle the board with salt and let it sit for several hours to absorb any lingering smells. To remove stains and get rid of any residual odours, scrub the board with a mixture of salt and lemon juice. The acid in the lemon juice will give the abrasive salt the extra kick it needs to remove tough stains.

Hummocks Watchman Eagles Round 16 Roundup

It was a mixed bag of results and emotions yesterday in our last minor round game for the season down at Two Wells, from some ripper wins and sheer elation over at the netball to an unfortunate season ending day for our footballers.

Huge congratulations to the U13b netballers who notched up their first win of the season, by just one goal. The thrilling game was a very fitting result for the team's hard work and tenacity throughout the year. We hear the coach may have been even more excited than the girls!

Sadly, yesterday wasn't the way the A grade was hoping to finish the season, with an 89-point loss crushing any glimmer of hope of making the top four and finals.

On reflection, coach Jared Wilson said the boys were hoping to finish a bit stronger, but it wasn't to be. "The boys have had a really tough four weeks and I think it all caught up with us," he said. "We spoke after the game about sticking together, working hard on our fitness over the summer and come back together bigger and better next season. I was extremely proud of the boys this year, we certainly made some big steps forward as a group that will help us as a playing group in the future"

While it wasn't the ideal finish, Jared was very thankful for the support from the club in general, but "particularly Harry, Bags, Ciccy, Youngy, Hayden Cock, Joey (team manager), Tim Moulds (goal umpire), Alan Baker (time keeper) and all the supporters. It has all been very much appreciated."

The A grade result was unfortunately mirrored in the B's, senior colts and junior colts, with none of the teams managing to get into the double figure goal tally. Hopefully the disappointing results didn't dampen the 40th birthday celebrations last night for our reserves vice captain! Well done to Dylan Martin who managed to kick the only goals in the both the senior colts and junior colts!

While the football may be over for another year, we have lots to look forward to in the netball with an incredibly exciting finals series ahead!!

Congratulations to our A1, A2, A3 and A4 teams, who all finished top (with the A3's undefeated), and to the A5s who finished second. All our senior netballers will play in the second semi final, back at Two Wells in a fortnight's time. Both our U17s and U13a's finished fourth and will play this Saturday in the first semi final. An amazing effort to have seven out of our eight competitive teams in the finals. Well done, Eaglettes! Let's get out there in support and help them bring home some flags in 2022!

CELEBRATING NAIDOC WEEK

We were very fortunate enough to have Moses' grandfather Tim visit in Week 10 Term 2. Tim travelled from Boigu Island, Torres Strait especially to see Moses and us. We feel very lucky and special with his visit. Tim was supported by Claire, Sarah and Tenay who came up from Adelaide and Moses' grandmother Heather. Our students and staff had a fantastic time, especially dressing up in cultural items.

Yesterday's News

The Central Advocate September 15, 1905.

PORT WAKEFIELD- Splendid general rains fell last Saturday night, and this evening is being devoted to thunderstorms and mosquitoes.

Some small-boys, while in search of rabbits last Saturday morning, unexpectedly came across a large brown snake, coiled up on the bank of a hole, taking in all the sunshine available. Several spirited efforts were made by the lads to destroy the reptile, and, according to their version of the affair, the snake disappeared in the hole in a frightfully mangled condition. Some time was spent by them in trying to dig him out, but without success, which is probably fortunate for them. The same afternoon another party of boys decided to put in the afternoon fishing on the wharf. One of them hooked himself instead of the fish he was after, and had to obtain the services of Dr. Gribble to cut the fish-hook from his finger.

Taking advantage of the moonlight, our brass band has been discoursing music several miles down the Adelaide road this evening. Under the leadership of Mr. Rhodes they have made splendid headway, and considering the time the band has been in existence they are a credit to the town, and well qualified to hold their own against any country town.
