HAVE YOU SEEN AN OSPREY?

THREATS

- Coastal development
- Persecution by humans
- Electrocutation
- Lack of habitat for fishing
- Predation by Gulls, Eagles and Foxes

FRIENDS OF OSPREY

Friends of Osprey formed in 2022 to support a recovery strategy written by the National Parks & Wildlife Service, with community input. The group's aims include increasing the number of successful fledglings by installing elevated breeding platforms to minimise disturbance. We have also been tracking the movements of a limited number of birds once they leave the nest through colour banding and satellite tracking.

ABOUT THE BIRD

Osprey are a rare raptor which primarily feeds on fish & is found around coastal S.A (and occasionally inland water such as the River Murray). Due to increased coastal development and activity most remaining nests are located on offshore islands or rock stacks. There are thought to be less than fifty breeding pairs in S.A, a figure which has declined in recent decades. Sightings of birds from Friends of Osprey and members of the public help us to maintain a record of Osprey movements around the State. Friends are reminded to maintain a safe distance from the birds and to use long telephoto lenses (minimum 400mm) for photographs or to simply observe using binoculars or spotting scopes. It is particularly important that in the coming months as the nesting season progresses, birds are not flushed from nests by people getting too close. Predators such as gulls and corvids can predate on Osprey eggs in a matter of seconds when the adult Osprey is inadvertently flushed from its nest and distracted and forced to defend its nest against the intruders.

HOW TO REPORT A SIGHTING

Sightings can be reported via our Facebook  page or by email at friendsofosprey@gmail.com.au

Photographs are extremely helpful. When reporting a sighting we need to know the location (GPS if possible, date, time of day and particularly if the bird has a band on its leg or is fitted with a tracker on its back

Peppermint Essential Oil Benefits – Part 4...

Welcome to the final part of Peppermint Essential Oil Benefits

How To Use Peppermint Essential Oil

One caution... Avoid direct use of peppermint with infants and young children. Due to its high menthol content, peppermint essential oil should never be used with infants or small children as it can cause life-threatening breathing problems.

Peppermint For Cleaning

Peppermint contains potent antimicrobial properties [source], so why not use it in your cleaning blends? I like to combine peppermint with citrus oils and really amp up the germ-fighting properties in a DIY cleaning spray. Plus, it makes my house smell wonderfully fresh!

It's also a great option to consider as an air-purifying diffuser blend when someone in the house is ill. Simply combine it with other air-purifying essential oils and diffuse away!

As an added bonus, peppermint is considered an effective pest repellent. So, not only is it beneficial for ridding your house of germs, but at the same time, you can deter pests as well!

Get Rid Of Ants...

Mix 10 to 15 drops of peppermint essential oil with 1 cup of water in a spray bottle. Shake well and spray along cracks and crevices or wherever ants are seen.

Peppermint For Beauty

In a 2010 study of the antioxidant activity of six popular essential oils, peppermint essential oil exhibited the greatest radical-scavenging ability. Why is that important? Free radicals are a key factor in aging, and the more antioxidants to help in fighting them, the better!

Treat Your Toes...

Combine peppermint EO with sugar and crushed peppermints to make a refreshing peppermint foot scrub. Or add peppermint to a foot massage to revive tired toes and eliminate foot odour.

Plump Your Pout...

Add 4 drops of peppermint essential oil into a bottle of lip gloss and mix to combine. Apply it to your lips and as it absorbs the menthol creates a tingling sensation that increases blood flow and temporarily plumps the lips.

As you can see, there are so many ways that you can use peppermint essential oil every day - I've barely scratched the surface! It truly is versatile and a must-have for any essential oil user. From fighting germs to relieving pain, peppermint is such a beneficial EO to have on hand.

Keep On Glowing!

Hummocks Watchman Eagles Round Nine Round Up

On June 24th we headed south again, to Rooster land to take on Two Wells in yet another very cold day of Saturday sport. Unfortunately none of our footy teams came away with a win, but congratulations to the A1, A2, A4 and 15&U teams who added another two points to their tallies.

This week's fast facts:

- Great to see Sam Carslake back in his first game this year, after dislocating his shoulder in our pre-season trial game against Ardrossan. And even better, he got to play with his younger brother, Brad, who was filling in again in the B's.
- Well done to the A1s who had a ripper game, defeating Two Wells by one goal. Last time they met, back in round 2, our girls were beaten by 10 goals.
- Great effort by both our senior colts and junior colts, who narrowed their margins from the last time they played the Roosters.
- Thanks to Zack and Jed Bigg who filled in for our senior colts. Zack and Jed are the sons of Jeff Bigg, who played all his junior football for us, before heading over to the West Coast to farm. It's great to welcome the sons of former players!
- Thinking of our players who sustained injuries, including Sarah Young who required surgery on her arm after a significant injury in the A2s and resulting in the game being abandoned. We wish all our players who are currently injured a speedy recovery.
- Thank you to those who played two games, across most football grades as well as over at the netball. With injuries and low numbers, teams can get a bit stretched, especially at this time of year, so we appreciate everyone helping out!

A HORSE OVER THE WHARF

A somewhat peculiar accident occurred on the last trip of the ketch Otter, which brings coal for the loco department. The horse employed to haul up the baskets backed over the edge of the wharf and landed on one of the fishing boats, smashing the mast and some of the gear. As the master of the ketch disclaims all liability, the affair promises to end in the Local Court.

THIEVING.

The Port Wakefield and Maitland police were engaged in the reported cases of burglary at Price and Horsestealing at Clinton. The officers, after obtaining all information at Price, proceeded to Clinton, where M.C. Panton picked up the tracks of the pony and followed them for some miles, when he fell in with Detective Mitchell, and the tracks were followed out to the metal road, where they were lost; but further enquiries showed that the offender had taken the Adelaide road, passing through Two Wells the same day he left Clinton. The next day the Adelaide police recovered the pony, saddle and bridle, and on Friday Detective Mitchell arrested a young fellow, Jack Andrews.

On the 27th Andrews was brought back to Port Wakefield and sentenced to six months' imprisonment for stealing the saddle and bridle and committed for trial for horse stealing. There is suspicion that the same lad broke into the Price Hotel, but there does not seem to be sufficient evidence to warrant a charge being laid against him. The police are entitled to much credit for the way the tracks were followed for eighteen miles and the prompt arrest in Adelaide.
